BALL TEAM BREAKS EVEN ON WEEK-END

Avenges Previous 15-0 Defeat By Subduing Rochester On Hill

LOSES AT ALBANY IN 11TH

Defeated By New York State Teachers In Air-Tight Contest

Winning and losing over the week-end, the Buff and Blue baseball team defeated Rochester, 9-1, on the Hill Friday and bowed to the New York State Teachers' nine, 2-1, in an extra-inning game at Albany on Saturday.

Air-tight pitching featured both games. Harvey twirled against Rochester and limited the Yellow-jackets to seven hits while his teammates collected 11. Eggleston starred at bat with a home run, a double and a single in four trips to the plate.

Launch Bunting Attack

The Continentals launched a bunting attack in the fourth inning which netted four hits and three runs. One hit, coupled with an error, a walk, and a sacrifice, brought in two more tallies in the sixth.

In the eighth the Buff and Blue batters pounded the Rochester moundsman for five hits to bring the total to nine. Lawton led off with a single, Eggleston cleared the bases with a home run, Harvey singled, Rienzo doubled, Hiler took first on a fielder's choice, and Henderson singled. Rochester finally retired the side when Ready hit down the first base line, but only after four runs had crossed the plate.

Rochester Scores in Ninth

Rochester's lone tally was scored in the ninth when Bastian, pinch hitting for Randall, walked, stole second, and came home on Harrison's single.

The game at Albany went to 11 innings before the Teachers' nine was able to score the deciding run. Eggleston allowed 10 hits, but kept them well scattered, and the eleventh was the only inning in which the winners were able to hit more than once.

Buff and Blue Start Scoring

The Buff and Blue started the scoring and took the lead in the fifth frame. Harvey walked but was put out stealing second. Rienzo fanned, and with two down Hiler doubled. He crossed the plate with the only tally of the game when Henderson hit to the infield and the shortstop fumbled the ball.

The Teachers knotted the count in the seventh on an error by Stevens and a single by Kinsella. The home team threatened again in the ninth, filling the bases on a hit, an error, and a walk, but Eggleston fanned Goodrich for the third out to send the game into extra innings.

SENIORS ENGAGE IN PRIZE DEBATE

Destructive Effects Of National Prosperity To Serve As Subject

Arguing the question, "Is our prosperity subversive of the common welfare," Lawrence S. Darken, Colemar F. Nichols, John H. Niemeyer, C. Spencer Philips, Steadman D. Tuthill and Charles H. Westerberg, Jr., will take part in the 64th McKinney Prize Debate to be held May 28, at 8 o'clock in the College Chapel.

The debate will be judged and the decision rendered by a group of local professional men consisting of Principal Babcock of the Utica Free Academy, Leo O. Coupe, '02, attorney; Paul C. Squires, '17, son of Professor William H. Squires; William J. Woods, connected with the staff of the Utica Observer-Dispatch, and Harold M. Harkness, attorney.

The men chosen to participate Wednesday evening will debate three on a team, the combinations for which are purposely withheld until the last minute, thereby necessitating preparation of both the affirmative and negative sides of the question.

Professor Calvin L. Lewis will preside and announce the names of the winners who will receive cash awards of $50 and $25 for the first and second places respectively.

MUSICAL ART CALENDAR IS CONCLUDED

Marie Rosanoff Terminates Concert Series With Cello Recital

ACCOMPANIED BY SHUTE

Final Program Well Received By Enthusiastic Music Lovers

The Musical Art Society terminated a very successful season Wednesday evening when Miss Marie Rosanoff, cellist of the Musical Art Quartet of New York City, gave a recital of chamber music in Emerson Hall, accompanied by Professor Berrian R. Shute. An enthusiastic audience of nearly 150 people from Utica and the Hill was present.

Miss Rosanoff well deserved her reputation as one of the most talented players of chamber music. She is known on the Hill from her appearance with the Musical Art Quartet, and has been enthusiastically received as a soloist in Utica.

Undoubtedly, the selection which found most favor with the appreciative audience was the Sonata in F Major, by Brahams. This consisted of one adagio and three allegro movements. Miss Rosanoff gave a very excellent rendering of Bach's prelude and Fugue, in C Minor. This sombre and highly effective number is written for cello without accompaniment. The more delicate Sonata in A Major, by Beethoven was the opening selection.

At the close of the concert an informal reception was held at the home of Professor Shute. Several members of the faculty and a few students attended.

TRACK TEAM GIVES BRILLIANT PERFORMANCE TO WIN FOURTH ANNUAL CONFERENCE MEET

Hill Runners Take All But Two First Places In Track Events—Relay Team Wins In Thrilling Battle With Alfred—Ford Shatters Records In Sprints

Piling up a grand total of 99 points, the Buff and Blue track team turned in a brilliant performance Saturday to win the fourth annual meet of the New York State Intercollegiate Athletic Conference by a wide margin. The Hill runners, led by Captain Ford, romped away fro ma formidable field to take all but two of the first places in the track events of the afternoon. Alfred placed second with 66 points, St. Lawrence took third with 42½ and Rochester fourth with 11½.

The signal success of the day was only marred by the strong winds which swept over the field, preventing the official recognition of the new records which were made and greatly slowing up the time of the distance runs. This victory marks the first time that Hamilton has won the Conference Meet since its inception, defeating Alfred, who has held the title for three years.

FORD BREAKS THREE RECORDS

Captain Ford of Hamilton, the outstanding performer of the meet, broke three of the dash records. By running the century in 9.9 seconds, he clipped 1-10 of a second from the previous record. In the 220, Ford broke the old record by 1.4 seconds covering the distance in 21.4 seconds. He also ran the 220 yard low hurdles in 25.5 seconds. The first two of these victories brought to a conclusion the two-year rivialry which has existed between the Hamilton captain and Percy of St. Lawrence.

Olander Stars In Field Events

Sharing honors with Ford was Olander of Alfred who won three field places in the field events. He threw the discus 116 feet 6½ inches, bettering the conference record by 2½ feet, and also placed first in the shot put and the javelin throw.

The only two first places lost by Hamilton in the track events went to Zschiegner of Alfred. He took the 880-yard run with comparative ease, and beat out Pritchard, the Buff and Blue distance star, by a close margin to win the mile.

Relay Is Feature of Meet

The most thrilling event of the day proved to be the mile relay in which Hamilton beat Alfred by a narrow margin. Lathrop, the first Hamilton runner, nosed out Robinson of Alfred by a hair's breadth, but Steel, Alfred's colored star, gained a slight lead over Denham, the second Buff and Blue man. Denman, however, made up this ground for Hamilton and nosed out his opponent. The last lap between Aderhold and Zschiegner proved a thriller. Twice Zschiegner overcame Aderhold's scant lead to breast the Hamilton anchor man, but Aderhold staved him off and broke the tape barely a fraction of a second ahead of his opponent.

The edge in the track events, which was conceded to Hamilton, materialized when the Buff and Blue runners came through to take seven out of nine first places, placing three men in many of the events.

The summaries:

Morris Again Forced To Abandon Athletics

LaRue G. "Risky" Morris, captain- elect of football, has been compelled to quit athletics for the second time within a very few months. The stomach ailment which necessitated the versatile athlete's retirement from basketball early in the season has again forced him to relax. As a result, the Hamilton baseball team loses one of its most valuable players, for "Risky" was a strong link at second base and one of the leading hitters on the team.

Marked improvement in Morris' condition will have to be shown before the diminutive Buff and Blue quarterback will be able to play football in the fall.

CHANGES PLANNED FOR HANDBOOK

Board Preparing Material for Annual Freshman Compendium

The plans for the 1930-31 Freshman Handbook, as announced by Francis J. Crowley, '31, editor-in-chief, include several changes in con tent but no marked change in general appearance.

One of the most marked of the changes will be the elimination of the Hamilton Slang Dictionary in which the nicknames of the professors are found. That part of the Dictionary which merely contains slang expressions in common use about the campus may however be retained.

Besides this alteration there will be the usual changes in the undergraduate rules which have occurred during the past year. All of the rules which have been passed by the undergraduate association will be found complete, in addition to former rules. There will be no essentially new features to the Handbook which will make it different from those of other years. The items concerning the calendar, the faculty, and the rules of the administration will appear as usual. The fraternity items are being changed to conform with the induction of new pledges and seniors who have been graduated .

The board, which is already hard at work on assignments, consists of eight members of hte Junior class as follows: Carberry, Boeve, Polhemus, Marvin, Fonda, Knox, Deaner and Conger.

CLASSES PREPARE FOR ANNUAL SING

Rehearsals Being Held For Interclass Contest Friday Evening

On Friday evening the sixth annual inter-class singing contest will be held on the campus. This contest has, for several years, been an outstanding event on the Hill, drawing many Uticans to the Hill for the twilight singing.

Prof. and Mrs. Paul A. Fancher have offered a silver loving cup to the class who wins the sing. The cup has only been offered five times since the starting of annual singing contests. The class of 1928 held the cup for three years, and the class of 1931, the present holder, has kept it for two years. The Junior Class hopes to equal the record of the 1928 class.

Rehearsals are being held daily by the four classes, at noon in The Little Theater, the Chapel, and the Hall of Commons. It is planned to have the classes gather on the four various sides of the quadrangle to sing their selections. "Shenandoah" has been chosen as the song which all classes will sing. The Senior Class has selected "Fair Hamilton" as one of their offerings, while the Junior Class has chosen to sing Theodore G. Law's song, "We're Here To Cheer." "Thy Sons Will Ne'er Forget Me" will be sung by the Sophomore Class, and the Freshmen Class will sing "We Come To Hang Our Banners." Each class will choose another song to sing in addition to those already selected. The judges will announce their decision from the Chapel steps.

A Faculty-Senior bridge party will be held on Monday evening at the Delta Kappa Epsilon House, under the auspices of the Deke Seniors. The affair is one of a series of bridge parties being sponsored by the seniors of the various crowds on the Hill.

LIFE STAFF INSPECTS UTICA PRESS PLANT

Hears Talk On Newspaper Business By Williams, Editor of Press

Friday evening the members of the staff of Hamilton Life paid a visit to the "Utica Press" and were shown through the plant by Paul A. Williams, '08, the editor. Mr. Williams met the staff in his office and gave them a talk, explaining how the newspaper and Associated Press worked. He explained the manner in which the city was combed for news and followed the process through the plant, ending his story by explaining the working of the presses.

Following the talk Mr. Williams and the members of the staff went through each department of the paper and saw every process included in the making of the "Press."

After the trip through the plant, the party adjourned to the Hotel Baggs, where refreshments were served and where Mr. Williams talked on the newspaper profession.

Dry Law Poll To Be Taken Here; Collegiate Straw Vote Favors Modification Or Repeal

During the next week Hamilton students will be asked to answer a questionnaire on their attitude toward the Eighteenth Amendment. Similar straw votes have been taken in cities and colleges all over the country.

Some of the questions asked have been: (a) Do you favor strict enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment? Modification? Repeal? (b) Do you drink intoxicating beverages? (c) Do members of your immediate family drink? (d) Did you drink before you went to college?

U. of P. Only Dry University

The statistics taken from the answers to these and similar questions show a strong sentiment toward modification or repeal. Of all the colleges and universities questioned the University of Pennsylvania was the only one to declare itself in favor of the dry law as it now stands.

Princeton Unversity leads with the greatest percentage of drinkers. According to the polls, 79.1 per cent of Princeton students are confessed drinkers. Amherst is a close second with 73 per cent, and Cornell is not far behind. The results of a poll taken by the Harvard Crimson showed that 16,595 students in 14 colleges were in favor of modification or repeal, while only 838 were in favor of the present liquor condition.

N. Y. U. Faculty Opposes Dry Law

At N. Y. U. it was found that both faculty and students are opposed to the dry act, and that most of both bodies are drinkers. About one-third of the co-eds at the University of Michigan admitted that they drank. At Dartmouth there were but 188 students out of 1,437 who voted dry.

An interesting aspect is that few of those questioned were said to be frequent drinkers, and that many who never drink recorded themselves as being in favor of modification.

Wets Are in Majority

The straw vote taken by the Literary Digest showed the division to be: Drys, 1,391,418; wets, 1,784,553. The wets are considered to be all those in favor of either modification or repeal.

In speaking of the statistics taken from the colleges, the New York "Times" says: "These statistics cannot be dismissed as the callow, reactions of young people, or the view of spoiled sons of rich wets. In nearly every institution listed above, the student body is drawn from all classes throughout the nation." The "Times" then gives figures, some of which have been cited above, which show the amount of drinking in American colleges. To quote again: "Laws which produce such dismal violation by the country's future leaders are laws which Congress must consider as at the bar of public opinion under serious indictment!"

Only 18 Seniors Are Undecided On Future As Commencement Period Rapidly Approaches

As under-graduate days have been drawing to an ever-quickening close, members of the class of 1930 have been busy with after-graduation plans to the extent that only 18 of the 80 or more hopeful seniors are at present undecided as to what line of endeavor they shall pursue on entering the "cold, cold world."

Hamilton has long been known as a college of pre-professional training and this reputation is being upheld by almost 40% of the class. About 24% of the class is going into business of one kind or another, including banking, real estate, technical and clerical positions.

Twelve Will Teach

The single occupation which will attract the greatest number of Hamilton men is that of teaching. Twelve of the new graduates will enter this line, teaching both in preparatory schools and universities. The subjects include English, chemistry, geology and history.

Perhaps the most interesting position is that obtained by Francis Schue, who will teach English in a French school. Shepherd will hold an assistantship in geology at Northwestern University for two years while studying for his Master's degree.

Medicine and law will each claim eight Hamiltonians this year. The greater part of these are planning to take their graduate training at Harvard and Columbia, but Georgetown, Rochester and Iowa State are also included.

Other professional fields in which the class of '30 is hoping to be successful are the ministry, journalism, dentistry and architecture, each claiming one or two graduates apiece.

Graduate Work Interests Many

Graduate business schools are enrolling four seniors. Jones will do graduate work in English Literature at Columbia, and Grubb will study for his Master's degree as recipient of a one-year fellowship in bacteriology at the Ogden School of Science, University of Chicago. The most popular business position seems to be one with the American Telephone and Telegraph or New York Telephone Companies. Van Loon will serve as a student engineer in the experimental laboratories of the Bell Telephone Company in Greenwich village.

The seniors having definite plans are: Aderhold, Louisville Seminary, Louisville, Ky.; Agens, teaching; Bailey, Jamestown Voting Machine co; Beetle, journalism; Bond, bank-

LOOK OUT FOR LOTUS LAND

Americans have their complexes just like all other people. Sometimes these are odd and again they are rational. But foremost among the complexes which characterize the average American these days is the overpowering desire to "belong." Everyone wants to found a club, a sewing circle, an association, or else be elected to membership in a society. In some this instinct even becomes a religion. People fail to find satisfaction unless they can wear some charm, hold weekly meetings, know some mystic grip, or mutter a cryptic password.

This condition is present both on and off the campus. We do not necessarily mean to scorn or to condemn its existence. But we do object to organizations which are formed per se. Whenever three individuals come into contact the present day practice seems to demand that they start a club. A president, vice-president and secretary are elected. Since they have nothing more constructive in mind than merely to belong to something, they really need no treasurer. They have now secured something which sets them off from the common run of mortals. That is all too often the only raison d'etre.

Peculiar to college campuses are the various honorary groups to which men are elected during their college days. Often these societies do perform work that is for the betterment of undergraduate conditions. But again, they often become mere self-constituted aristocracies to which certain men from each class are elected by the outgoing active members. Whatever honor is involved sometimes rests solely in the induction into the exclusive circle which has gathered the Elect into its folds. Indeed, the only service which many groups perform is the act of self-perpetuation and that is a very questionable one.

Whenever an organization is formed on a college campus it should justify its existence by some concrete and actual service to the college or the university. Was Los, the junior honorary society, this year has developed plans for a new organization composed of the lettermen of the college with the conceived purpose of bettering relations between Hill athletes and the players of visiting institutions. Whereas this involves the creation of one more organization on the Hill which will asssume unto itself honorary distinction, it appears to have a definite and commendable purpose to subserve.

It is true that the reception of visiting teams to the Hill could be made much more hospitable and agreeable than at present. The players might well come to know each other with an intimacy that is not fostered in the heat of the game. The promoting of this fellowship with men from other institutions is certainly worthy. But it is hoped that this purpose will be effectively served. Nothing is so futile as a body which arises, frames a constitution, establishes its honorary character and then just wears the laurel wreath. Laurels that are rested upon soon wilt.

This new association apparently has work to do. We are glad to see it beginning to tackle its job. What we ask is that it keep its end in view. What we suggest is that it keep faith with its high purpose and not sink into the Lotus Land of futility.

In other words, let it be more than just another club.

SHEPARD OFF FOR CONTINENT

Hill Professor Will Attend Anniversary of College de France

In order to attend the 400th anniversary ceremonies of the College de France, Professor William P. Shepard will board the De Grasse tomorrow on his way to Paris where the ceremonies will be held about June 16. Assistant Professor Lewis H. Gordon will take over Dr. Shepard's classes for the remainder of the term.

By leaving the Hill before the end of the semester, Dr. Shepard plans to reach Paris early enough to renew acquaintances with French scholars before they leave the college for the summer vacation. He also expects to devote some time to research work at the Bibliotheque Nationale. He will return to the Hill in time to resume his classes at the opening of college next fall.

DISTINGUISHED CRITIC REVIEWS PASSION PLAY

Alexander Woollcott At Oberammergau As Times Correspondent

Again acting in the capacity of a dramatic critic, Alexander Woollcott, '09, recently reviewed the Passion Play at Oberammergau, writing for the New York Times.

In describing the first presentation of the play, which was given under very unfavorable weather conditions, Mr. Woollcott writes, "Under gray and dripping skies, threatening with the memory of the snow and hail which visited this valley in the week just past, the good villagers of Oberammergau re-enacted today their immemorial Passion Play, thereby fulfilling once again and renewing for another generation the pledge their forbears made 300 years ago."

To the Editor of Hamilton Life:

It seems to have become a traditional trait among the undergraduate body at Hamilton to consistently criticize that publication which has been endeavoring to survive the attacks of a virile opposition. I speak of the "Royal Gaboon."

Since its inception some four years ago this publication has been hindered in its progress toward a higher type of literary presentation by an exceptionally bigoted opposition. And that opposition has grown, not as a result of well-founded arguments, but rather by common hearsay. That the "Gaboon" is a joke, has become a spread issue. Any publication may be subject to destructive criticism; and attacked by such a powerful opposition, the "Gaboon" has, on the face of it, become a farce in the minds of many. But has it received careful and farsighted criticisms?

Opposition to a publication naturally cuts the circulation of its issues. With a limited circulation ,there is a consequent limited use of money for improvements. The "Gaboon" has had excellent material in the way of cover cuts ,illustrations, and literature, which it has been unable to print because of high cost. Many times it has been compelled to print cheap, second-hand material for lack of funds to produce the better material. This situation can be obviously attributed to short circulation and restricted income.

"The Gaboon" is suffering from a psychic depression, and not from any material inefficiency. The questionnaire, recently issued by Pi Delta Epsilon, has apparently expressed the wish of the college body as to the future of the publication. With this expression of the college's feelings, the "Gaboon" can easily and practically undergo an adjustment in order to make itself perfectly acceptable to its subscribers. It has, on its board, contributors of no little ability. It has editors possessed of divers styles, some of which are certainly acceptable as fit Hamilton literature. There is at least one man in every class, who can aptly represent the art department. The exchange department is always prolific, perhaps too much; but an increase in circulation would necessarily create an increase in local literary productions.

The "Gaboon' 'has its outfit — a capable one. Its present problem is to satisfy the college by the presentation of adequate and acceptably literary material. Its policy is directed toward that endeavor. The questionnaire has reflected the college's attitude. The majority wants it to continue. The literary and exchange departments obviously were disapproved. With the merger of the two into an improved section of writing, I believe the "Gaboon" would become distinctive in appearance as well as in content. The ridiculous is not permanently desired. The semi-ridiculous is too week a solution to be of any worth. A true literary quality, embellished with fresh touches of humor, can mold the paper into an interesting and effective publciation and necessary revisions can be made in its organization to definitely make the "Royal Gaboon" a true representative of Hamilton's literary humor.

When There's A Fire, Just Call for "Sandy"- The One-Man Brigade

By Edward N. Main, '33

Whether it be midnight or noon, Abe Lincoln Brenchley, nicknamed "Sandy" by his fellow-workers, will rush to the fire in the college's new fire-truck. That is his job, and he enjoys it. When not working for the college, Mr. Brenchley lives in a spacious, comfortable apartment over his fire-truck in the engine-house, where he enjoys every convenience and luxury of life, including hot water, bath, light and heat.

Although of English birth, he was raised by a Scottish family in Scotland, and is very proud of his prominent Scotch accent. A reporter from Life found him well-informed on many subjects and an interesting conversationalist.

While Sandy's job as college fireman is more or less of a sinecure, he has other duties around the campus which keep him busy, such as carpentry and gardening. He has been in the employ of the college since last August, but has only lived on the campus since March 14, when the new firehouse was completed.

Mr. Brenchley enjoys his work in addition to doing his own cooking, cleaning, and housekeeping. However, he must always be on hand for any emergencies. There is a telephone at the head of his bed, a hatchway in the floor through which he can quickly descend to his engine, and an emergency gong outside of his door.

Besides keeping his fire-truck as shiny as those of the big cities, it is his duty to attend to the furnaces which supply heat to his apartment and building and the new shop next door. Mr. Brenchley has been in this country 21 years, and has had previous experience in his present work. He is an ardent checker fan, and spends much of his time over the black and red squares.

WOOD RESUMES CLASS IN FOREIGN RELATIONS

Plans To Winter In South And Spend Fall and Spring On Hill

Dr. Frank C. Wood, who recently returned from the South, has taken over only his class in International Relations. For him to take any other classes would necessitate disrupting the present schedule.

Dr. Wood states that he does not intend to travel during the next year but expects to spend the fall and spring on the Hill and pass the winter in Winter Park, Florida. He says that he has found a home much to his liking in the South and intends to go there every winter. His home is located near Rollins College, which he says, puts him in mind of Hamilton.

VISITING JEWELERS WILL TOUR CAMPUS

Trip To Hill Included in Plans For 21st Annual Convention

Plans have been made by the Utica Retail Jewelers' Association for a tour of the campus to be made by members of the N. Y. S. Retail Jewelers' Association and their wives at the 21st annual convention of the Association to be held in Utica this week. The tour will probably be made this afternoon.

Mr. William D. McNeil, president of the local Jewelers' Association, has announced that there will be about 300 jewelers and their wives at the convention. They will go in cabs to visit the Masonic Home grounds and will afterwards see the campus. This will be one of the largest crowds ever to visit the Hill for such a purpose.

GEOLOGY TRIPS END

The social season ended with a great celebration at Schenectady and vicinity. Geologists tripped all over the countryside and also the dance floors. They inspected all kinds of fossils and other women. A little information was passed out; and that's all that was. There were many geologists and intelligent people there. One fellow, a joker, was asking everyone what a certain fossil was and then telling them that it was the bottom of a drill hole. And then there's the story of the girl who went to a professor named Mr. John Doe and, holding a fossil in her hand, said: "Mr. Fossil, is this a John Doe?" Friday evening was a banquet and there happened to be a formal dance at the same place. So some of the fellows said: "It was just great, to stay a bit late, and crash the gate with a Vassar date. Incidentally a Vassar friend of Life's New York correspondent was on the trip. She's just a "Chip" off the old Atwood block. Darn! We've forgotten what it was Pebbles wanted put in.

WEATHER RETARDS MUSHBALL SERIES

Neutrals and Psi Upsilon Triumph In Only Game Played

Although the Interfraternity Mushball Tournament got off to a good start a week ago with every game in the first round being played, bad weather in the second round has made most of the games impossible and only two games have been played during the week.

Both of the games resulted in walkaway victories for the winners. In the "B" league, Psi Upsilon scored a crushing victory over Chi Psi on Friday night. The score at the end of the seven innings was 15 for the Psi U. team and 2 for the Chi Psi's. The game was not marked by any spectacular playing but the Psi U. team held the upper hand all of the time.

In the "C" league the Neutrals swamped Chi Beta Sigma to the tune of 22 to 5, the Chi Betes making a very poor showing against the heavy batters of the Neutral team.

The teams that were unable to play were: "A" league. Delta Upsilon vs. Theta Delta Chi; Sigma Phi vs. Decagon Society; Delta Kappa Epsilon vs. Emerson Literary Society; Lambda Chi Alpha vs. Lambda Xi Sigma.

GEOLOGY CLASS MAKES FIELD TRIP

Paleontologists Participate In Tour Conducted By State Body

Hamilton paleontologists, under Professor Nelson C. Dale, took part in the field trip conducted by the New York State Geological Association through the Helderberg section of the state on Friday and Saturday.

The itinerary of the trip for the first day included Saratoga, Saratoga Springs, to graphite mine, Schuylerville, Bald Mountain, and return to Schenectady by way of the old Saratoga Battlefield.

On Saturday, the party climbed the Helderberg escarpment at Altamont, and drove to Schoharie, Derne, and the Indian Ladder section. The principal features of geologic interest which were visited during the two days were the trap dike at Saratoga, the fault at Saratoga Springs, the Hoffman Fault on the Glens Falls road, the volcanic neck at Schuylerville, the Mohawk Delta and other Lake Albany deposits, the Helderberg Escarpment, the Roundout-Manlius, Coeymans series, the Onondaga and Hamilton formations, and the Indian Ladder section.

A dinner, followed by moving pictures, was given Thursday evening, and Friday evening the geologists assembled for a banquet in the science building at Union College.

SPORT COMMENT

Commenting on the 8-0 defeat handed the R. P. I. baseball team by the Buff and Blue nine, the Rensselaer "Polytechnic" says: "An unusually high wind was responsible for the defeat which our nine met at the hands of Hamilton. The high wind carried the ball far out of its path and caused many fouls and errors." A favorable wind for us, apparently.

The system of self-coaching for teams while in action has proved successful after a three-year trial at Loomis School, according to the headmaster there.

In baseball, tennis and track, the teams have been entirely on their own initiative from start to finish of the game, and in football, basketball and hockey the coach has been allowed to make substitutions but without commenting on the method of play.

The system is designed to foster initiative and self-reliance on the part of the players, and on a number of occasions has been suggested for intercollegiate athletics.

The score of the track meet between Haverford and Swarthmore last Saturday was as close as is likely to be the case in athletic competition of any kind. Haverford defeated Swarthmore, 62 1-6 - 61 5-6, gaining the decision by a margin of 4-6 of a point.

"According to the 'Cornell Daily Sun,' Ithaca is soon to have a beer garden next to the university campus which will have a seating capacity of from two to three hundred people with comfort. The garden is being backed by a group of local alumni with the idea that if the students get good beer, the drinking of poison liquor in the university will be lessened accordingly. According to the chairman of the committee the opening of this university rendezvous will take place just before Commencement or just after college opens in September."

If this is correct Cornell's football team should have a heavy line next fall.

Colgate captured first place and Syracuse second in the Intercollegiate Outboard Regatta held at Skaneateles Lake last week-end. No Hamilton entries competed. According to the Syracuse "Herald" the reason for the withdrawal of the Buff and Blue entrants was the fact that the administration would not allow the men cuts for their absence from college.

TWO GAMES ON BASEBALL CARD

Nine Will Face Susquehanna Tomorrow And Union On Saturday

Two games, that with Susquehanna on the Hill diamond tomorrow and one with the strong Union nine at Schenectady on Saturday, promise to keep the Buff and Blue baseball team busy this week. The contest with the Garnet is the last game on the schedule to be played in alien territory.

Tomorrow's contest with Susquehanna is the second to be played by the two teams, the Pennsylvania outfit having taken a 2-1 trouncing at the hands of the Contnientals last year when representatives of the two institutions opened diamond hostilities.

The Susquehanna team will undoubtedly furnish the Hill players with some strong opposition, inasmuch as it is anxious to avenge the defeat suffered last year and also has the benefit of having played more games than the Buff and Blue this season. It is expected that Harvey will get the mound assignment since Eggleston pitched against the Engineers on Saturday.

So far the Hill nine has failed to win a road contest and it will have its hands full on Saturday when it faces the veteran Garnet team. Eggleston and Meredith, the crack Union pitcher who held the C. C. N. Y. team to four hits, will probably oppose each other on the mound.

Five men on the Union team helped to hand the Buff and Blue a 2-1 defeat last year and will be out to duplicate the feat. This encounter is the first of a series of home and home games, Union being the Memorial Day attraction on the Hill diamond.

HILL PROFESSOR WRITES ARTICLE

Summary of Experiments On Fish Parasites Elicits Comment

A recent issue of the Journal of Parisitology" carries an article by Professor Walter Norton Hess which has aroused favorable comment in the scientific world. The article concerns the control of External Fluke Parasites on fish and is especially valuable to breeders of fish.

Dr. Hess has studied several types of fish, namely goldfish, black bass, and perch, both here at Hamilton and in large fish hatcheries in different parts of the state. He has made intensive studies as to the destructive habits of the fluke on these and other fish and also found several methods of killing the pests.

The methods of extinction have already been used in several fish hatcheries in several states and the results have been successful.

Assistant to Dr. Cadman Stresses Organization In Religion

"Ours is an age of exploration in religion as well as in science, and the Bible is the best Baedeker for an explorer of the soul," delcared Rev. Ralph W. Sockman, D. D., of the Madison Avenue Methodist Church, New York, in his sermon in the College Chapel Sunday.

"For a long time we have contented ourselves with the belief that there are no more adventures in this world for us. We think that the wilderness is cleared, that the roads are built, and we question 'Where are we to find new frontiers?' However, to us there always remains that vast, uncharted field of religion and theology in which each individual is a pioneer.

"This spirt of exploration," continued Dr. Sockman, "which is so popular with our generation was also popular at the beginning of the Christian era and reached its highest embodiment in Christ. The church which He has left us as his great accomplishment on earth may be linked to the frontier stockade in that it is a place of shelter and an escape for the mind and soul. We, as pioneers, would do well to seek its protection."

Dr. Sockman concluded his sermon with the plea that in one's quest for religion the personal interest should not exceed the fraternal. "Religion," he said, "must necessarily be an even combination of group traveling and individual exploration. This alone can be obtained by unity in the church."

MAKES ATTACK ON DAVENPORT

Coupe, '10, Claims Steering Committee Violates Party Principles

Leo O. Coupe, '10, prominent Utica lawyer and political leader, issued an attack against Congressman Frederick M. Davenport in an open letter to Saturday morning's Utica Daily Press.

The letter was directed chiefly against the unofficial "steering committee," which has acted in an advisory capacity. Mr. Coupe claims that this committe was intended to dictate nominations and to take over party management in Oneida County.

Mr. Coupe says: "Shall the party be governed and managed by the party officials and machinery provided for the laws of this state and elected by and responsible to the member of the party in the county, or by an outside group pledged to secrecy of deliberations and not responsible to the rank and file of the mebers of the party."

COMMENCEMENT PLAYS SELECTED

Charlatans And Dramatic Interpretation Class To Give Program

The Charlatans will not present "The Faithful," by John Masefield, at Commencement time as had been planned, since the casting committee was unable to secure the necessary types which this Japanese production requires.

John H. Jones, '31, president of the Charlatans, announces that Professor Paul A. Fancher has been asked to present at Commencement instead of "The Faithful," two one-act plays which are now being prepared by the class in Dramatic Interpretation. "Maitre Pathelin" and "His First Dress Suit" will be presented by members of the class in Dramatic Interpretation and those members of the Charlatans which the casting committee selects.

It is probable that the one-act Charlatans prize play will also be given at this time, concluding a program of three one-act plays.

HAMILTONIANS TO BE GEOLOGY INSTRUCTORS

Ferry, '29, and Shepherd, '30, Receive Geological Appointments

The appointment of Chamberlain Ferry, '29, son of President and Mrs. Frederick C. Ferry, as an instructor in Geology at Washington and Lee University at Lexington, Virginia, has recently been announced. Ferry has been doing research work in the Geology Departments of Cornell University and will return there on the consummation of his instructorship.

Appointment has also been made of George Frederick Shepherd, '30, as an assistant instructor in Geology at Northwestern University.

PECK EDITS NEW BYRON LETTERS

Work Concerns Suppressed Correspondence With Unknown Woman

Walter E. Peck, '13, has recently edited a series of 17 letters which were written by Lord Byron to an unidentified woman. The letters had been suppressed before publication in England in 1872. Mr. Peck is the author of a "Life of Shelley."

These letters, which are all of a personal nature, are addressed to a "Miss L.," are characterized by self-pity and cynicism, but are written in a spirited and vigorous manner. Mr. Peck considers the identity of "Miss L.," an unsolved mystery.

Professor Earle C. Smith of Cornell University, whose special studies in Byron have brought him in contact with the holograph originals of most of the Byron letters on this continent, has examined these new ones and has pronounced them as authentic.

Covici, Friede, Inc., who have published this book, say that so effective was the suppression in 1872 that only four copies of that edition are extant today. The text of the letters that have just been published, is taken directly from one of these four old volumes.

SYRACUSE MEETS DEFEAT ON LINKS

Victory Is Third of Season for Buff and Blue Golfers

The Hamilton golf team turned in its second victory of the season over the Syracuse University squad Friday afternoon on the local course, winning two foursomes and two singles matches to chalk up 4-2 triumph, the third of the season. Rain had made the course ideal for short play and much of the contest was decided through work around the greens.

Captain Mead and Miller suffered the only Hamilton defeats, Mead losing to Nelson, 1 up in nineteen holes and Miller bowing to Henderson, 5 and 3. Decker defeated Van Nostand of Syracuse, 5 and 4, and Bannerman downed George Armstrong, Syracuse basketball star, 8 and 6 for the most decisive victory of the day.

In the foursome, Mead and Bannerman won from Nelson and Armstrong, 5 and 4, while Decker and Miller defeated Henderson and Van Nostand, 2 up and 1 to play.

GOLF TEAM TO PLAY AT COLGATE

Hillmen Will Seek Revenge for Defeat In Initial Engagement

With three victories and but one defeat to its credit the Buff and Blue Golf team meets its conqueror, Colgate, on the latter's home links Wednesday afternoon. The Hamilton golfers have defeated Syracuse twice by scores of 5-1 and 4-2, and have also downed Union at Clinton. Colgate won from Hamilton, 4-2, in the first match of the season.

Hamilton's players may find Colgate's hilly layout more difficult than the flat Clinton course and may therefore run into a harder match than they encountered here.

Although Hamilton is not at present favored to win the Colgate match, the local squad may get all its guns working at once and turn in a victory over the Maroon team. Since the Colgate match will conclude the season, another victory would create an admirable record for the 1930 season.

Tickets On Sale For Senior Ball June 13

Tickets for the annual Senior Ball, which will take place Friday, June 13, in Soper Gymnasium, are now on sale in the College Store and fraternity houses. The price of the tickets will be five dollars until June 1, when it will be raised to six dollars.

Dancing will begin at 11 and last until 5. The Casa Loma Orchestra, famous 14-piece road-band, will furnish the music. The band is acclaimed to be better than any which has been on the Hill in several years. It will play at the Cornell Spring Day dance on May 24, where it scored a tremendous hit last year. The committee on the dance is composed of Davis, Law and Bond.

TRACK TEAM TO MEET ENGINEERS

Buff and Blue Squad Favored To Win Final Events of Season

Fresh from the triumph in the Conference meet, the Buff and Blue track team will meet R. P. I. this Saturday at Troy in the final meet of the season.

While it is impossible to predict the outcome of this meet, as the two rivals have faced none of the same teams this season, there seems to be a chance that Hamilton may stop the string of reverses that have resulted from encounters with R. P. I. in previous years.

The Engineers have been handicapped during the early part of the season because of the ineligibility of several star runners, but these men will be able to compete in Saturday's meet.

Hamilton may possibly be minus the services of one of her best sprinters, John Corwin, who pulled a muscle in his leg during the Conference Meet.

HE TORE OFF HIS FALSE WHISKERS— AND IT WAS JACK

"Lucinda, my love, I knew you would be true. 'Tis I . . . your own Jack Delavere!"

"Jack," replied Lucinda blushing prettily, "must I confess? I recognized you from the first. That honey-smooth voice . . . those golden tones . . . that perfect throat-ease can belong only to a man who smokes OLD GOLDS. You wag . . . you thought to confuse me, but nay! The mild and mellow queen-leaf tobacco sets its OLD GOLD mark upon you as sterling upon silver. There's not a bark in a billion."
